WHAT IS THIS PRODUCT?

Type

The fund is a UCITS fund pursuant to the Swedish Investment Funds Act (2004:46).

Term

This fund has no maturity date. However, the board of directors may decide to close the fund under certain circumstances.

Objectives

The objective of Carnegie Likviditetsfond is to generate a stable and positive return.

The fund may invest its assets in interest-bearing transferable securities, money market instruments, fund units and accounts with credit institutions. The fund may also invest in derivatives in order to make the management of the fund more efficient. These may be used to make the management more efficient in order to reduce risks and costs and to increase returns and generate leverage.

The fund's assets shall be invested in interest-bearing securities and money market instruments issued by Nordic governments, municipalities, county councils, credit institutions and companies with a Nordic association. Issuers must have a high credit rating. Investments in securities and money market instruments in foreign currency are hedged against the SEK.

The average duration of interest rates may not exceed 12 months. The average maximum expiration may be a maximum of 24 months for all securities included in the portfolio. The fund may make use of derivatives to reduce foreign exchange risk. This means that the fund attempts to reduce the effects of currency fluctuations.

Benchmark: The product compares its performance with the Nasdaq OMRX Treasury Bill Index, as it is in line with the fund's investment strategy. The product does not try to replicate this benchmark and freely selects the securities that it invests in. The deviation from this benchmark index can be significant.

WHAT ARE THE COSTS?

- 100,000 SEK is invested
